

Craft – Stamped washer necklaces (or key chains)

I ordered aluminum washers (which are a softer metal therefore easier to stamp) from the hardware store in cedar park called "Fastenal". You can get washers from Lowes or Home Depot that you can stamp as well they are zinc plated steel which make them a little harder to stamp but for sure doable!

The actually steel stamping letters I purchased at Hobby Lobby in the jewelry making section. They have multiple fonts and sizes there and if you use the coupon you can get a set for $12.

The leather necklaces I got from a store in round rock called Tandy Leather. They sell it by the bulk for pretty good price but you can also find the same stuff at Hobby Lobby and Micheal's for pretty good deals too.

The rest is just sharpies (purchased anywhere).
